To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage; to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all th public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. Any warrants forwarded to the subscriber, will be located on such land as he may suppose most likely to please his employers. CADWALLADER WALLACE.

Chillicothe, (Ohio) April 15 19t*

For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland: one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river: located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.

A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.

A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm, with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.

A Tract, lying about 11 miles from the last mentioned, containing 236 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.

If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.

Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

A coroner's inquest was held on Sunday evening last, at Ladd's wharf, upon the view of the body of SMITH MUDD, of Washington city—verdict, "accidental death, by falling over board from the schooner Polly, in the river Potomac, on the morning of the 1st inst." No property was found upon him but a pocket-book, containing some papers, which will be delivered to his family or friends,—for whose satisfaction and information this paragraph is inserted.

From the Goshen (Orange County) Patriot, of July 27.

MYSTERIOUS FEMALE.

On Wednesday last, a good looking female, about 20 years of age, dressed in a common garb, came to the house of a person, living about three miles from this village, on the Philipsburg road, and requested permission to remain there a few days. The people in the house replied that they could not afford to keep her for nothing, and as she did not appear able to pay them any thing for her board, they advised her to apply somewhere else—she was then far advanced in pregnancy. She stated that she was quite unwell, and hoped they would give her permission to remain a short time. Her situation at length overcame the scruples of the family, and they humanely consented to her request. She appeared restless, and frequently went out and returned. On Thursday afternoon she went out, and was gone some time; when she came in her appearance was much altered, and on Friday morning some of the neighbors were sent for—when they came she was closely interrogated as to her situation, and whether a child had not been born during the last time she was out of the house. She perseveringly denied that she had been in any such situation as they insinuated, or that any such thing had happened to her as they seemed to suppose.—The suspicions, however, were not diminished, and search was commenced around the house. After a little time the shocking spectacle of a naked, lifeless, infant, partly covered with stones and rubbish, presented itself to their sight. They returned to the house—informed her of the fact, and again pressed her to disclose the particulars. She at last acknowledged that it was her child—that she used no violence to procure its death—that it was "still born." After many entreaties, she was prevailed on to go to bed. A coroner's jury was immediately summoned over the body of the infant—the body, but more particularly the legs, bore many marks of violence, which seemed to have been inflicted by an old bone found on or near the infant—one slight wound was discovered on the head. On her examination, the unfeeling mother (if mother she can be called) persisted in her former statement, that the child was still born. She gave various and contradictory statements respecting herself. She told the family she came from Ohio—the jury, from Springfield, Massachusetts, that she crossed the Connecticut river in a boat, at Hartford—that she crossed the Hudson river below New-York, and various other particulars equally inconsistent and unsatisfactory; and yet, she seemed free from insanity—evincing a good deal of artful cunning. She said her name was Eliza Davis—that her father and mother were dead, and that she had sisters living at the westward, whom she was going to visit. Several repectable physicians were called as witnesses, who gave it as their opinion, that the child was alive when born. We understand that the child came to its death by violence from some person or persons unknown to the jury, and by the neglect of its mother, Eliza Davis.

The best cure for the gout, is to apply a leek poultice to the part affected. Numerous instances of its efficacy, in this painful disorder, have recently occurred. Its culture should be cherished as a medicine of inestimable value.

PIRACY.

CASE OF THE IRRESISTABLE.

The constitution of the U. States confers on Congress the power to "define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offences against the law of nations."—Art. 1, sec. 8.

"The Federalist," (No. 42,) says this power "belongs with equal propriety to the general government; & is a still greater improvement on the articles of confederation. These articles contain no provision for the case of offences against the law of nations; and consequently leave it in the power of any indiscreet member to embroil the united-ratcy with foreign nations. The provision of the federal articles on the subject of piracies and felonies, extends no further than to the establishment of courts for the trial of these offences. The definition of piracies might, perhaps, without inconvenience, be left to the law of nations; though a legislative definition of them is found in most municipal codes."

On the 30th April, 1790, Congress passed "an act for the punishment of certain crimes against the U. States," (among others the crime of piracy,) the 8th section of which is in these words:

And be it enacted, That if any person or persons shall commit upon the high seas, or in any river, haven, basen or bay, out of the jurisdiction of any particular state, murder or robbery, or any other offence which if committed within the body of a county, would by the laws of the U. States be punished with death; or if any captain or mariner of any ship or other vessel, shall, piratically and feloniously run away with such ship or vessel, or any goods, or merchandize to the value of fifty dollars, or yield up such ship or vessel voluntarily to any pirate; or if any seaman shall lay violent hands upon his commander, thereby to hinder and prevent his fighting in defence of his ship or goods committed to his trust, or shall make a revolt in the ship; every offender shall be deemed, taken and adjudged to be a pirate and felon, and being thereof convicted, shall suffer death: And the trial of crimes committed on the high seas, or in any place out of the jurisdiction of any particular state, shall be in the district where the offender is apprehended, or into which he may first be brought.

At the Feb. term of the supreme court of the United States, 1818, however, there came on the case of the United States vs. Palmer et al.; certified from the circuit court for the Massachusetts district. Palmer and others, citizens of the U. States, had gone upon the high seas, entered and robbed the Industria Raffaelli, a Spanish ship, of various articles. In this case, the question arose, (to use the language of the chief justice) "whether this act extends farther than to American citizens, or to persons on board American vessels, or to offences committed against citizens of the U. States? The constitution having conferred on congress the power of defining and punishing piracy, there can be no doubt of the right of the legislature to enact laws punishing pirates, although they may be foreigners, and may have committed no particular offence against the United States. The only question is, has the legislature enacted such a law? Do the words of the act authorize the courts of the union to inflict its penalties on persons who are not citizens of the U. States, nor sailing under their flag, nor offending particularly against them?"

The court finally came to the decision, that "the crime of robbery, committed by a person on the high seas, on board of any ship or vessel belonging exclusively to subjects of a foreign state, on persons within a vessel belonging also exclusively to subjects of a foreign state, is not a piracy within the true intent and meaning of the act, "for the punishment of certain crimes against the U. States," and is not punishable in the courts of the U. States."

"To supply this omission, a new provision was deemed to be necessary; and it is understood that with this intention the last congress adopted the 5th section of the "act to protect the commerce of the United States, and punish the crime of piracy"—passed on the 3d of March, 1819. The 5th section is in these words:

And be it enacted, That if any person or persons whatsoever shall on the high seas, commit the crime of piracy, as defined by the laws of nations, and such offender or offenders shall afterwards be brought into, or found in, the United States, every such offender or offenders shall, upon conviction, thereof, before the circuit court of the U. States for the district into which he or they may be brought, or in which he or they shall be found, be punished with death.

The case of the Irresistable, which came before a special term of the federal court, for this district, is perhaps the first case which has been argued under the act of 1819. The reader will perceive from the following hasty sketch of the proceedings, that a point of some importance has also grown out of the new act of congress.

On Monday, the Hall of the House of Delegates was filled by a large concourse of spectators. The court was opened; the Chief Justice on the bench. Mr. Stanard, the U. States' Attorney, appeared on the part of the U. States; Messrs. A. Stevenson and W. Wickham, on the part of the prisoners; Messrs. Gilmer and Bouldin, the two other counsel whom the court had added to the defence, being prevented from attending, the first by indisposition, the last by absence.

The prisoners (21 in number) had been variously charged in three different indictments; one, (under the act of 1819) was for robbing a Spanish vessel; another under the same act, for robbing a Dutch vessel; the third, under the act of 1790, for robbing an American vessel.

Samuel Poole was first put to the bar, under the first indictment, charged with having piratically and feloniously set upon, boarded, broke and entered "a certain Spanish vessel or brig belonging to certain persons whose names are as well as is that of the said brig unknown," and robbed her of Spanish milled dollars.

The prisoner being arraigned, and the jury impannelled, seven witnesses were sworn in.

Samuel Stanly, (a youth of 16,) gave a clear and particular statement of the transaction. He stated, that he had belonged to the armed vessel the Irresistable; that while she was lying in the port of Margaritta, about a mile from shore, about one o'clock in the morning, she was cut out by the crew of the privateer Creola. Such of the crew of the Irresistable as wisbed to go ashore, were permitted to do so. The crew of the Creola said they were going to continue the cruise. They did go on a cruise. They went off St. Domingo, where they did but little; but off Cape Antonio in the island of Cuba, they met with several vessels. (Q. What colors did you assume? A. No particular ones; sometimes one flag, sometimes another; flags of different nations. Q. Who appointed the officers and how? A. They were appointed by the crew of the Creola; (but witness could not tell particularly the manner of their appointment.) They brought too a Spanish vessel, off Cape Antonio, from whom they took 2300 dollars. During all the time of the cruise he was on board of the Irresistable; towards the last of it, he was made master's mate; before which time, he had been before the mast. (Q. Did you board a number of vessels? A. We did. Q. Were they also plundered? A. Some of them were. Q. What became of the money found in the Spanish vessel? A. It was shared among all hands. Q. Did you come into the waters of the U. S. into the Chesapeake Bay? A. We did. Q. What became of the vessel? A. Commodore Daniels sent down, and took possession of her. Witness said the crew had abandoned and dispersed. (One of the jurymen.) Was it from apprehension? A. I cannot tell that. Being asked to specify the different flags under which they had sailed, he mentioned the Spanish, Buenos Ayrean, and English. The Buenos Ayrean flag was flying when she took the Spanish vessel.

On cross examination, Stanley said, that he had sailed in the Irresistable about 6 or 7 months before she was taken by the crew of the Creola; that she had sailed from Baltimore, to make prizes under a commission from Gen. Artigas. (Q. Did you not take vessels under the flag of Buenos Ayres? A. No. Q. Did you not conceive you had a right to take them? A. No, we could have taken them many a time. Q. Would you not have taken the Creola, if found out of port? A. No. Q. were you not apprized of their being a war between Buenos Ayres and General Artigas. A. I was. We had it in our power to take Buenes Ayrean privateers from Baltimore, but we did not attempt it. Q. While in the Irresistable, what prizes did you make? A. A ship and a schooner belonging to the Portuguese.) Being interrogated further, he stated that when the Irresistable was taken at Margaritta, he was in her asleep, and so were her crew; that 50 or 60 of the crew of the Creola had boarded her. (Q. Do you know Poole? A. Yes. Q. Did you see him that night? No; not till the morning. They drove us below, and we had no chance of seeing till morning.) He stated that the Irresistable was the strongest vessel; she mounted 16 guns; the crew of the Creola had boarded her with two boats. (Q. Had you no centinel? A. Yes; but all were gone asleep. Q. How do you know then you were boarded with boats? A. I heard the capt. so say, as well as several of the people. Q. How many were there in the crew of the Irresistable? A. About 25 or 30. Q. Was the prisoner very active? A. He was. Q. Who seemed the leader among them at that time? A. Ferguson, who was afterwards appointed captain. Q. Did you observe Black? A. He was 1st lieut. at first, but they broke him.) Being further questioned, in a desultory way, he stated that some of the old crew of the Irresistable were not willing to join; that when told they might go ashore, it was too late, being as much as fifty miles from land; that in the course of the cruize, they spoke about 30 or 40 vessels, English, French, American, Dutch, Danes, that they boarded an American vessel bound to St. Jago; searched her trunks and took jewelry from them. (Q. When you boarded vessels did you hear an order to take Spanish or Portuguese property but no others? A. No. Q. But in boarding the American vessel, were orders given to respect American property! A. Yes.) Upon being interrogated particularly how he came to call the vessel they took a Spanish vessel, he said she had a Spanish flag and Spanish crew. (Q. Did you go on board of her? A. No, but they brought the crew on board of us to search their vessel. She was bound from Campeachy to Havana. She had 4 or 5 in her crew, besides officers and passengers; was a very small vessel. Her captain told our captain in French he was a Spaniard.) The witness being interrogated, said he did not himself understand French or Spanish. Soon after he got to Baltimore, the witness said he was put in jail, and promises were held out to him that he should not be punished, if he gave evidence in the case: that he was taken in the vessel in the Patuxent by the Revenue Cutter. His share of the money from the prize was 29 dollars; as to the jewelry, it was set up and sold in the vessel, & the proceeds shared out, of which he received 7 dollars more. They had also plundered a Dutch vessel, from whom they had taken some hampers of gin—also one of Petion's schooners, from whom they took clothes, money, watches, &c. which plunder was divided among the crew.—Being asked by a juryman, if they were to take Spanish and Portuguese property only, why they robbed the American? he replied, that they robbed the passengers only of jewelry, but did not rob the vessel. Q. Was the jewelry Spanish or American property? A. I do not know. Q. Why did you take the gin from the Dutch vessel? Was that a Spanish vessel? A. No, but because we wanted it.

Samuel Beaver—was one of the crew of the Irresistable, when she was seized at Margaritta, in the month of March last; when taken, the boarding crew loosed her sails, and stood out to sea; hove to at day light, and sent those ashore who chose to go—they said at first she was coming home to Baltimore; but they went a cruizing; she carried the Margaritta flag generally; but when boarding vessels they used different flags—they boarded eight or ten Dutch, French, American, 2 Spaniards; one a Spanish brig off cape Antonio; took from her 2300 dols. From the American vessel (the Superior,) they took a cask of water and jewelry. The money they took was shared among the crew; they sold the jewelry and divided out the money. When they arrived in the Chesapeake Bay, the crew was called together, and divided; those who were for going out again went to one part of the vessel, the rest to another; the strongest party was for coming in, and the vessel was brought into the Patuxent. Q. Had you orders to respect particular vessels? A. No; we boarded one and all. We were prepared to take specie wherever we could find it. Q. What was the station of the prisoner in the Irresistible? A. He was captain of foretop, and master's mate.

Cross-examined—he stated, that 18 of the crew of the Irresistable were set ashore at Margaritta; that he did not try to get ashore because he did not wish to be drowned; the boat being leaky, and full of men and clothes; that he was below and drunk when the vessel was taken; that capt. Ferguson had told them he had a commission; but two days after he told them he had not; that after they found there was no commission, then they determined to board everything. Q. When you went on board of a vessel, were you not told to take nothing but Spanish or Portuguese property? A. Yes; but if we saw any specie, it was ours. Q. Had you orders to take money wherever found? A. Yes.... He stated that he was arrested in Baltimore, and was told he should get a dollar and a quarter a day while attending as a witness.

John Donald—was one of the crew of the Creola; shipped at Baltimore under the B. Ayrean flag, for a 90 days' cruize; at Margaritta the vessel was sold; and they had none to return home in; and were told the governor of Margaritta meant to press them. Captain Daniels had told some of the crew, whom he wished to enlist with him in the service of Venezuela, to which he had become attached, that, if they did not join him, he would have them put into the fort and fed on bread and water. Donald said, when he was asleep below, one of the crew of the Creola (who rose upon the vessel) came down to his birth, and threatened to blow out his brains if he did not join them in going against the Irresistible. They went in two boats, and seized the latter vessel; secured the men and hoisted sail. The officers of the Creole were confined during the mutiny. Ferguson and Black were the leaders. Ferguson was proposed on the quarter deck of the Irresistible as captain—no one objected, and he was appointed officer. They had boarded a Spanish vessel, with logwood on board, and took from her, (as he understood) 3700 dols. in specie. They boarded several vessels under the B. A. flag; came across one of Petion's vessels, sent a boat aboard of her, took out jewelry. [there were several articles of it on the table of the court] understood that this vessel was a pirate and had no papers. They paid for the water taken from the American vessel; but does not know whether they paid for onions taken from the Dutchman.—Q. You never thought of putting a prizemaster on board of any of the vessels you saw? A. No; we would not have disturbed the vessel....

Being cross-examined, said there were orders to respect American property, and only to take Spanish and Portuguese.

John McFadden—was 1st lieutenant on board of the Creola, when she was seized; gave the particulars of that transaction: on the 24th of March the mutiny took place; they seized all the small arms; threatened to blow out the brains of the officer on deck—McF. was below; when he went on deck he found 50 men armed; tried to pacify and quell them; they said they were not going to take our brig, but captain Daniels'; ours not sailing fast enough; he thought at one moment he should have quelled the mutiny, but Black told them, they would be strung on the beach and hung like dogs; they then sung out, as we have begun, let us go through with it;" they took all the arms from the Creola; they said all might stay who chose; they wished none but volunteers; only 4 or 5 remained behind; capt. Daniels' other vessel tried to pursue the Irresistable next morning, then in sight (about 20 miles off) from the mast head.

Being further interrogated, said the Creola had a commission from Buenos Ayres; she was regularly commissioned; the crew shipped at Baltimore; cruise was finished at Margaritta. They did not think themselves authorized to take a vessel under the Artigas flag; on the contrary, he had known the two flags cruize together.....

Mr. Stanard—Q. Does not the commission expressly restrict you from taking South American Spanish property? A. Yes: it is against the property of the subjects of the king of Spain.

Henry Child—had been the first officer of the Irresistible—was below when the Creola crew came on board; he attempted to go up with a cutlass, but was taken and confined; they told him, as soon as things were arranged, they would give him the boat, and let him go ashore. Word was passed fore and aft for every one who wished to leave the vessel to go in the boat: he and 19 men left it—the boat was in a leaky condition—much baggage in it; but had as any more been willing to go with him, the baggage would have been thrown overboard. They overhauled his and Capt. Daniels' trunks, for the vessel's commission; but finding none, Ferguson said he could easily make papers for himself.—When the Irresistible first arrived at Margaritta, the captain had taken all the papers on shore, to deposit them at the government house.

Captain Paul—was the commander of the Creola—was asleep in the cabin, when the alarm was given; was suffered to go to the upper step of the gangway—was told they did not intend to injure his vessel, but to take possession of the Irresistible after leaving his vessel, he had fired at them; then went on board Capt. D's other vessel which chased them 8 hours in vain. Capt. C. being asked the date of his commission said the original had been sent to Buenos Ayres; but a copy he had of it bore date in September 1815. It did not justify him in taking any but Spanish property.

Capt. Daniels—was the commander of the Irresistable—after the alarm was given, he was ordered by the Governor to pursue her, but to no purpose; her boat returned ashore with 20 officers and men. The Irresistible had been engaged by the Governor to sail to Venezuela in two days.

The Evidence being gone through, the Court directed the Jury to be kept together and adjourned till next morning.

New-York, July 31,

IMPORTANT.

Yesterday afternoon, the U. S. sloop of war, HORNET, Capt. Reid, arrived at this port from Cadiz, with dispatches for government. She sailed on the 2d of this month, and we learn, that, at the time of her departure, the Treaty agreed upon here between our Government and Don Louis de Onis, the Spanish minister at our court, HAD NOT BEEN RATIFIED. On the receipt of the dispatches by the Hornet, at Washington, we shall probably be made acquainted with the nature of the delay on the part of the King of Spain.—Upon the whole, were we to hazard a conjecture on this important question, judging from existing circumstances, it would be, that there is little hope of an amicable adjustment with the government of Spain.

The U. States ship of the line Franklin, commodore Stewart, of 74 guns, had arrived at Cadiz, having on board Mr. Russell, the American Charge des Affaires to Sweden, on his way home. Mr. Russell intended to have taken his passage in the Hornet, but as she was under sailing orders could not wait for him. He intended to leave Cadiz in the first vessel for the United States.

The Franklin arrived at Cadiz just a week before the departure of the Hornet. Doctor Heap, surgeon of our Mediterranean squadron, is a passenger in the Hornet.

Capt. Reid was at Madrid 44 days, and left on the 24th of June; and we have no doubt will be able, on his arrival at Washington, to give some important information. Captain R. proceeds this morning with the despatches.

Captain Reid informs, that the crops in Spain were never more abundant.

About a week previous to the departure of the Hornet, a frigate and six brigs of war arrived at Cadiz from Bordeaux, under French colors, and were to join the squadron fitting out against the Patriots of South America.

It was said at Cadiz, that the Grand Expedition would sail about the first of August. There was an army of 16,000 men at Cadiz, ready to embark.

Missouri and Illinois Bounty Lands

THE subscriber has now for sale a number of the most valuable tracts, in both of those rich and improving bodies of lands, and can supply applicants with any number they may wish, and in any part of either territory. Every person who visits the Western Country, particularly those who intend settling there, should take with them a few quarter sections of those lands; every man who has a young and growing family, and can spare a few hundred dollars, should not miss the present opportunity of getting some of those lands; as it will insure to his children a greater certainty than any other investment he can possibly make for their benefit.—From the immense emigration to both Illinois and Missouri, particularly to the military lands, it is certain there must be a great rise in the price very soon, and those who miss the present opportunity, will never again have a chance to do so well. The patents will be sold very low, for cash, good notes or bonds at short dates, or bank stock in the Central Bank of Georgetown and Washington, and the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown. As I am a large dealer in Military Bounty Lands, I can supply any number that may be required.

Please to apply at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown.

Lands for Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a power of attorney from William S. Courts to the subscriber, will be sold at public sale,
On WEDNESDAY, the 18th AUGUST, in Port Tobacco, that valuable tract of land whereon John H. Barnes at present resides called Whitland and Cole,
lying and being in Charles county Maryland, containing between three and four hundred acres. This land is handsomely situated, lying immediately on Matawoman Creek, at least one third of which is in wood, with a sufficient quantity of marsh land for grazing—that part of the land which is in cultivation is well adapted to the growth of corn, wheat and tobacco, and with proper care would be equal, if not superior to any land in that neighborhood.

The terms of sale will be as follows: viz. possession given on the first day of January next, at which time one third of the purchase money will be required, the remaining two thirds at one and two years the purchaser giving bond with approved security with interest.—Upon the payment of the whole purchase money, a sufficient deed will be executed to the purchaser.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat; where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole; it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25
